RAIN STOPPED A GREAT GAME

Times-Dispatch Nine Couldn't Be Beaten, and Hermitage Club Nine Didn't Win.

The Hermitage Club did not defeat The Times-Dispatch nine yesterday, because there was a downpour of rain. After waiting until after five o'clock the players on the two teams, silently walked home and thought about what would happen when a good clear day came and they tackled each other on the diamond.

All of The Times-Dispatch players were on hand and Hermitage and Charlestown were in excellent shape. Ellyson and Bryan, for the Hermitage aggregation were likewise of the opinion that their batters were of the peculiar variety. Then came the cruel rain. But then the rain may have been a blessing in disguise.

ROANOKE, VA., August 7.—To-day's game between Danville and Roanoke was won in the first inning by the Tobaccoists, who landed on Smith and found two three-bases hits, a two-bagger and a single, which gave the visitors the five runs. After this inning Smith settled down, and no runs were made in the remaining eight innings. There is an excuse for the "subway" artist, as he had been sick and was really not in form. Howard was also wild in the innings of the game, and at several times looked as though the lead would be overcome. The visitors' fielding, however, was a decided improvement over yesterday's, and aided in preventing runs. There is an excuse for the "subway" artist, as he had been sick and was really not in form.
